MEMORANDUM FOR: Chief, Technical Accounting Staff

FROM: Staff Member

1. On 29 November 1956 the transportation provision of PASCO-57 was reviewed by the undersigned relative to reimbursement for transportation of household furnishings and recording of Obligations therefor. The provisions of paragraph 3g(1) of PASCO-57 ~~are~~ generally interpreted by the Members of the Office of Logistics with whom this was discussed [redacted] Trans. Division and [redacted] B/F Officer) and [redacted] of the Office of the Comptroller that the Army bills this Agency only for "out-of-pocket" or extraordinary expenses incidental to such transportation. It is also their understanding that Household effects shipments would not require reimbursement to the Army unless extraordinary expenses were incurred.

2. The undersigned was advised that transportation via Army channels is not recorded as an obligation against the Agency's Transportation allotment (6893) since there is no reimbursement to Army for ordinary transportation costs relative to personnel, supplies or equipment.

3. In those few instances where there are extraordinary expenses, the Budget Office of the Office of Logistics has recorded such obligations.
